

Scavenger Hunt

Former Governors' Mansion State Historic Site

---

1. Beautiful as a bumble bee, but a bit bigger; give me a twist and the door will be a flitter.

What am I?

Where am I?

2. I am Ophelia of Shakespeare fame, decorative I am. Asa Fisher admired me by the light of the fire.

What am I?

Where am I?

3. "Ding Dong!" I would say if I was I bit newer, but being old all I can muster is a buzz.

What am I?

Where am I?

4. My maker is long gone, to where nobody knows, leaving only me, burned here as the only remaining evidence of its existence.

What am I?

Where am I?

5. I know not/I don't remember who drew me. A very poor view I do see, tucked away as I am beneath this cabinet for few to see.

What am I?

Where am I?

6. A doggie I am, guarding this door, watching over my master's children as they play about/on the floor.

What am I?

Where am I?

7. Big am I, and all you see is reflected in me: in this/my room many a leader has slept.

What am I?

Where am I?

8. Children cannot play with me, but they can admire me; they can dream of feeding me a peanut as they sleep near me.

What am I?

Where am I?

9. A pretty paper plate stuck to the wall I may look like, but I do have a purpose; keeping the flue from letting things in at you!

What am I?

Where am I?

10. I hang about with many others, even for a time I was upside down, but a first lady recognized my predicament and rectified my condition.

What am I?

Where am I?
